

Glenn Hegar

Elected in November 2014, Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar is a strong advocate for job growth and greater diversification of the Texas economy. A staunch supporter of government transparency, Hegar believes all levels of government should be open and accountable to those who pay the bills — Texas taxpayers. Hegar serves as Texas' chief financial officer, treasurer, check writer, tax collector, procurement officer and revenue estimator.

In the Texas Senate, Hegar oversaw state and local revenue matters during the 83rd legislative session and was instrumental in cutting $1 billion in taxes for Texas taxpayers and businesses. As a business owner, Comptroller Hegar knows first hand that individuals, not government, will make better decisions with their hard-earned tax dollars and in turn help boost the economy.

Hegar is a sixth generation Texan, who grew up farming land that has been in his family since the mid-1800s. His upbringing taught him the core values of character, honesty, integrity and hard work. These are the same values that he and his wife, Dara, work to instill in their three young children: Julia, Jonah and Claire.

Dawn Buckingham

Dr. Dawn Buckingham made history in 2016 when she triumphed in a tough campaign to earn a place in history as the first Republican from Travis County ever elected to the Texas Senate, and the first woman ever elected to represent Senate District 24. Dr. Buckingham's independent spirit and tenacious nature made her a natural Texas Senate leader on strengthening border security, keeping taxes low, defending the 2nd amendment, and improving public education.

Dr. Buckingham's family were among the first settlers to Texas seven generations ago, and that tough, independent, pioneer spirit is deeply rooted in her personality. True to her Texas roots, her commitment to service began early, serving as a volunteer firefighter, and attending the Texas A&M Fire School. She is also an avid hunter and outdoorswoman.

She graduated from UT Austin Magna Cum Laude & debt-free. It was during college that she met the love of her life and husband of 30 years, Ed Buckingham. Dawn and Ed both received their medical degrees from the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, and they have two children. Her commitment to service and recognition for her work has allowed her to hold leadership positions in local, state, and national organizations.

Sid Miller

An 8th generation farmer and rancher, Sid Miller is the 12th Commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA). He has devoted his life to promoting Texas agriculture, rural communities and the great state of Texas.

A recognized community leader, Miller was first elected to the House of Representatives in 2000. He quickly earned a reputation as a staunch defender of Texas agriculture, constitutional freedoms and individual liberties for all Texans.

He was elected statewide as the 12th Texas Agriculture Commissioner in 2014 and re-elected to his second term in office in 2018.

Since taking office as Agriculture Commissioner, Commissioner Miller has brought real, common sense reform to TDA. Within six months in office, he eliminated a 2 1/2-year backlog in organic certifications. He reshaped field operations to maximize efficiency for Texas taxpayers. This included increasing the number of consumer protection inspections by as much as 183 percent while slashing the miles traveled by TDA inspectors by more than half a million miles a year.

He and his wife, Debra, have been married for 44 years. They have two sons, two daughters-in-law and five grandchildren. They are active members of the Cowboy Church of Erath County, where Commissioner Miller also serves as an elder.

Wayne Christian

A lifelong conservative businessman, Wayne Christian was elected as our 50th Texas Railroad Commissioner in November 2016. Throughout his first term, Christian developed a strong record of fighting against frivolous regulations and standing strong for free markets and American Energy Dominance!

In 1996, Christian was elected to the Texas House of Representatives as the first Republican elected from Deep East Texas since Reconstruction after the Civil War. During his time in the House, Christian played a key role in electing a Republican majority to the Texas Legislature and kickstarting the conservative renaissance in the State of Texas.

As state representative, Christian served as the President of the Texas Conservative Coalition and earned a reputation as one of the most conservative, liberty-minded elected officials in the State of Texas with A-Ratings from the National Rifle Association, leading pro-life groups, and conservative watchdog and business organizations.

Wayne Christian is married to his wife, Lisa, and together they have three daughters and five grandchildren. The Christians are members of the First Baptist Church in Center, where he has served as a member of the Texas Baptist Men's Laity Board and as a board member of the Shelby County Senior Citizen Corporation of Texas.

Dan Patrick

Dan Patrick was first elected Lt. Governor of Texas in 2014 and re-elected in 2018. A preeminent voice for principled conservative policies both in Texas and across the nation, Lt. Gov. Patrick is leading the fight for life and liberty in Texas including securing the border, reducing property and business taxes, standing up for the Second Amendment and addressing Texas' infrastructure challenges to assure that our state continues to flourish economically.

Lt. Governor Patrick presided over what have been called the most conservative and productive sessions of the State Senate in Texas history. Focusing on strategies to keep Texas families and communities safe & the state economy strong, under his leadership, the Senate passed legislation to dramatically increase support for border security and reduced the franchise tax by 25% on a pathway to eliminating it all together.

Lt. Gov. Patrick has been married to his wife Jan, a former school-teacher, for 46 years. They are the proud parents of son Ryan & daughter Shane, & the grandparents to seven grandchildren.

Ken Paxton

In 2014 Ken Paxton became the 51st Attorney General of Texas. General Paxton is consistently recognized as a conservative, stalwart leader with a deep passion and respect for our U.S. Constitution through his previous service in the Texas House and Senate and now as Attorney General. He is known for his principled and uncompromising devotion to America's founding values.

Once elected, Ken immediately went to work fulfilling his campaign promises to protect the 10th Amendment, fighting efforts by President Obama and his administration to infringe upon Texas' state sovereignty. He has been a prominent voice in the defense of religious liberty during multiple attacks by the Obama Administration and also more recently supporting the current Administration's policies defending religious liberty. A defender of our free enterprise system, General Paxton also continues to fight against overreaching government regulations which harm Texas jobs and economic growth.

Ken lives in McKinney with his wife, Angela, a guidance counselor at Legacy Christian Academy in Frisco. The Paxtons have four children: Tucker, Abby, Mattie, and Katie. Ken and Angela are members of Prestonwood Baptist Church in Plano.

Pete Sessions

A proven conservative leader, Pete Sessions has combined hard work, innovative thinking, and common-sense principles to successfully serve Texas in Congress.

Born and raised in Waco, Pete attended Waco public schools until the ninth grade, playing sports, becoming an Eagle Scout, and throwing newspapers for the Waco Tribune – Herald. Pete left Waco when his family moved to Washington D.C., where his father began his career at the Department of Justice.

After graduating from Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, Pete joined the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, where he worked for 16 years, never missing a day of work and taking early retirement as District Manager, just prior to running for Congress.

While in Congress, Pete was part of the Republican House majority that balanced the federal budget four years in a row from 1998 to 2001. He led the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC) as its Chairman from 2009 through 2012, directing the party to regain the House majority with a net 63-seat victory in 2010, which removed Nancy Pelosi as Speaker.

I am committed now more than ever in bringing back a conservative Republican majority to the House of Representatives in the next election.

Greg Abbott

Named "Best Governor in the Nation" in 2020, Governor Greg Abbott continues to build on his record as a strong conservative leader who fights to preserve Texas values and ensure the Lone Star State remains the best place to raise a family, build a business, and create greater opportunity for all.

Before his election in 2014 as the 48th Governor of Texas, Greg Abbott was the 50th Attorney General of Texas, earning a national reputation for defending religious liberty and protecting Texas communities and children. He also previously served as a Justice on the Texas Supreme Court and as a State District Judge in Harris County.

A native Texan and avid sportsman and hunter, Governor Abbott was born in Wichita Falls and raised in Duncanville. After graduating from The University of Texas at Austin, he earned a law degree from Vanderbilt University Law School.

Shortly after graduating from law school, he was partially paralyzed by a falling tree while jogging. From his faith and family, he gained strength, recognizing "our lives are not defined by our challenges, but by how we respond to them."

Governor Abbott and his wife, Cecilia, a former teacher and principal, and the first Hispanic First Lady of Texas, were married in 1981. Their daughter, Audrey, is a recent college graduate.

Tom Maynard

Tom Maynard has been actively engaged in education as a parent, teacher, school board trustee, state administrator and since 2013, the State Board of Education. He currently chairs the School Finance/Permanent School Fund Committee.

He believes students must be prepared for college, career and citizenship. He believes parents have a right and responsibility to direct their children's education, in local control and accountability. A former career and technical education teacher, he believes in robust, hands-on CTE (vocational) programs.

As a disadvantaged youth, Maynard grew up at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, worked his way through Texas Tech University, became an award-winning agricultural educator and later executive director of the Texas FFA Association. He and his wife Freda have five children and nine grandchildren and own and operate appraisal and livestock enterprises.

Charles Schwertner

Senator Charles Schwertner, MD is a sixth-generation Texan and lifelong conservative Republican. Since 2013, Dr. Schwertner has represented Senate District 5, a ten-county region of central and east Texas that includes Brazos, Freestone, Grimes, Leon, Limestone, Madison, Milam, Robertson, Walker, and Williamson counties.

As Chairman of the powerful Senate Committee on Business and Commerce and the Senate Committee on Constitutional Issues, Schwertner oversees a number of critical policy areas for the state of Texas, including electric utilities, insurance, banking, alcoholic beverage regulation, technology, and telecommunications. Schwertner also serves as a member of the Senate Committees on Education, Finance, State Affairs, and on the Legislative Budget Board.

Throughout his time in the Texas Legislature, Schwertner has led the way on a number of important policy initiatives including authoring one of the strongest Constitutional Carry laws in the nation, reforming the state's electrical grid, expanding access to mental health services, improving the state foster care system, strengthening landowner rights, cutting taxes for small businesses, protecting seniors from abuse, and fighting to lower tuition at public universities.

Caroline Harris

A lifelong conservative Republican, Round Rock native Caroline Harris is running to serve as our next state representative. Labeled by Fox News as the conservative "driving force" behind the passage of "sweeping legislation on issues ranging from abortion to critical race theory to election integrity," Caroline will be the youngest Republican woman in the Texas House if elected this November.

An experienced policy advisor for one of our state's most conservative senators, Caroline has worked behind the scenes on issues ranging from property tax relief to efforts to secure the border and keep our communities and schools safe. In the Texas House, we can trust Caroline to fight for less government interference in our lives, families, and businesses.

The daughter of a pastor, Caroline has been active in her church as a Sunday school teacher and as a member of the missions board. She has volunteered locally with Love the Rock, along the coast after Hurricane Harvey, deployed on mission trips as far away as India, and troubleshooted unemployment issues for individuals impacted by the shutdowns associated with COVID-19. Caroline holds a Masters Degree in Public Affairs from the University of Texas.

Bill Gravell

Bill Gravell is a Williamson County native who has served as County Judge since 2019. From 2013-2019 Bill served as Justice of the Peace. In 2016 Bill Gravell was selected as "Judge of the year in Texas".

In this capacity under Texas law, the County Judge serves as chief executive officer of the county and is involved in almost all aspects of county government, including the County budget and presiding over Commissioners Court. The County Judge is also the administrator over the County Departments and Senior Department Heads that report directly to the Commissioners Court. He serves as well as the head of Emergency Management.

As your County Judge, Bill fights every day for the people of Williamson County. Bill has provided law enforcement with the resources they need to keep Williamson County families safe. Bill Gravell opposes any radical efforts to defund the police. Bill is committed to lowering property taxes and with fellow Republicans lead the charge to raise the homestead exemption for our residents in Williamson County. Bill is fighting for the most vulnerable in our community. Let's keep him on the job.

Nancy Rister

Nancy Rister has been your County Clerk for 24 years bringing home 23 years (so far) of awards from the State of Texas Vital Statistics Section of the Department of State Health Services.

She believes in using technology to be the most efficient office possible. While not completely paperless, over 80-90% of all documents filed are filed electronically in the courts and Official Public Records. This eliminated scanning, and the handling of paper for processing and mailing. Nothing gets lost in the mail when it is filed electronically.

The increased volume due to our county's growth keeps her staff of forty-four very busy. Clerk's offices are hard working as is Nancy. She has always juggled her time between priorities. She has a strong work ethic learned from her mom and dad in a small West Texas town.

Going to college while working 40 hours per week presented a challenge but objectives can be accomplished when you set your mind to it. After obtaining her bachelor's degree in Accounting and Information Systems she became involved in civic clubs like the local battered women's shelter.

Married for 39 years with two daughters and four grandchildren, she juggles family and work priorities.

Russ Boles

Since being elected to the Williamson County Commissioners Court in 2018, Russ Boles has cultivated a reputation as a leader on the issues of transportation, public safety, and the creation of high-paying local jobs.

A native of Williamson County, Boles joined the court at a tumultuous time. He navigated the county's Emergency Management responses to the COVID pandemic and Winter Storm Uri, while still prioritizing projects like the Southeast Loop, CR 366 and University Blvd. Boles stopped efforts by radicals to defund the police while increasing funding for law enforcement by 22%. He did all of this with an eye on our cost of living, increasing property tax exemptions for first-time homeowners, seniors, and the disabled, and cutting the overall property tax rate. Boles has also been instrumental in bringing quality employers to the area, including Samsung.

Boles represents over 50% of Williamson County's land area as the commissioner of Precinct 4. This includes all or parts of Round Rock, Hutto, Taylor, Georgetown, Jarrell, Bartlett, Granger, Weir, Thorndale, Thrall, and Coupland. He is a small business owner, a graduate of Round Rock High School, Texas State University and St. Mary's School of Law. Russ and his wife, Kathy, have two teenage daughters.
